CHASE FOR FUGITIVE ACROSS ELEVENTH STREET FRIGHTENED CROWD

Geo. Frank Rushed Through Music Store in Flight.

CAPTURED AT DISPENSARY

IN ROGUE'S GALLERY.

He Fired Point Blank at Detective
Keely While Pursued and Praised the Officers Bravery When Captured.

One of the most thrilling arrests made in St. Louis for years was effected a half hour before noon today, when a man calling himself George Franks was brought to bay in the City Dispensary yard by Detectives Keely and McNeil and Chief Clerk John Pearall of the health department dispensary staff.

Hundreds of persons witnessed Frank's attempt at flight, and scores stood frightened while pistol shots were exchanged between the officers and the fugitive in the alley between Pine and Olive and Eleventh and Twelfth streets. Six bullets whistled past the officers, but none hit them.

The bullet holes were scattered over the stones paving of the alleyway.

The flight, the shooting and arrest occurred within three square blocks, but there were dexterous turnings and twistings during the run, and the incident occupied several moments.

The view of a man rushing through the noonday crowds on Olive street pursued by two large men, each grasping a revolver, a dash through the well-filled aisle of a music store, and the last fierce effort at resistance, held the spectators spell-bound.

HOW HE WAS TRACED.

It was yesterday afternoon that Frank entered a printing house on Pine, near Twelfth street, and ordered a number of blank checks. They were ostensibly for the use of the Elgin City Banking Co. of Elgin, Ill., and the man said he would return for them today. Detectives Keely and McNeil heard of the order, and believing there was something back of it, resolved to satisfy themselves that all was right. They lay in wait for Frank this morning.

He reached the printing establishment, was given about 100 checks, and turned to leave. He caught a glimpse of the detective waiting for him on the outside.

When he reached the steps he broke into a run and fled east toward Eleventh street. Keely and McNeil were positive at this that their suspicion that he was somebody the chief would like to see was correct, and they followed at a run.

The man turned over Eleventh street to Olive, where he turned east and dashed madly through the crowd. The officers were close upon his heels, and, when the pursued man reached the stairs of the Jesus French Piano and Organ Co., he broke through the door and sped down the aisle to the back door. He had a heavy revolver in his hand at this time, and the women customers who were present and the men stood astounded.

There were shouts of fright as the two officers followed, their revolvers in their hands, the men running rapidly and exerting every energy to close up on the fleeing man.

FIRE AT OFFICER.

Frank reached the door, and, leaping through it, bounded up the alley. Keely and McNeil were close behind him and were gaining, and the man, realizing this, turned and fired three shots full at Keely, but his aim was wild and his hand agitated, and the bullets flew harmlessly against the walls, with the exception of one, which struck from the pavement and struck Henry Hanner, a glazier of 22 North Twenty-fourth street, the front door.

Keely responded with three shots, but because of the great crowds near by shot in the air, thinking to frighten the man he wanted into stopping and giving himself up.

Frank continued to Eleventh street, where he went south to Chestnut, and then to the alleyway, which leads to the City Dispensary. He darted in here, and Keely was but a short distance behind him, while McNeil ran around to the Market street entrance to bar his progress should he succeed in getting through.

John Pearall was standing in the courtyard when Frank appeared, swinging his weapon, his face flushed from the long run. The detective, who knew something was amiss, and as the man turned toward him, he caught him by the clothing and clutched to it. The man struggled desperately to break his hold, but Pearall would not let go. Frank threatened to shoot, but could not get his revolver in the right position, and just then Keely came upon the scene.

Still Frank fought until completely exhausted and overpowered, and then said to Keely:

"Well, you're all right. I thought I'd scare you when I shot, but you ain't afraid of a bullet a little bit. Give it up."

DRESSED HIS WOUNDS.

Frank was taken into the dispensary, where it was necessary for Dr. Albert Vogel to dress five small wounds he sustained during the struggle in the stable-yard. He was not seriously wounded and was soon taken to the Four Courts and closed with Assistant Chief of Detectives James Smith.

In the meantime there was nothing wrong in his transaction, and he was released on his parole to help the canvass of Dr. C. Flanagan, nominee in the Fifth district for Congress.

ARGUMENT FOR SHERWELL.

Case Will Go to the Jury Saturday Night.

EVANSTON, Ind., Oct. 25.—In spite of threatening weather this morning the Sherwell trial brought out a large crowd. Edward C. Henning argued for the defense. He stated that the boy admitted Sherwell was the owner of Fourth and Sycamore streets the night Mrs. Kaley was murdered and talked to some of the men present, but that no witness had testified he saw defendant talking to Mrs. Kaley.

He stated that the state had failed to produce a single witness who was able to swear that any time on this night he saw Mrs. Kaley.

Henning was one of the attorneys for Caleb Powers, former secretary of state of Kentucky, who was sentenced for life for complicity in the murder of Gov. Goebel.

The state will close some time this afternoon and the case will go to the jury again at the meeting of the guards next evening.

PART OF BRAIN REMOVED.

John Daly's Mind Is Not Impaired by Loss.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Surgeons have removed a portion of John Daly's brain without impairing his mental faculties to any perceptible extent.

Daly was working on the fourth floor of the Armory building in the stock yards Oct. 10. A fellow workman threw a rivet to Daly, who, in reaching for it, lost his balance and fell, fracturing his brain protrusion. It was thought he would die. An operation was performed, and a large part of the cerebellum was removed.

There is no doubt about the removal of the brain protrusion.

John Daly, 45, who had been operated on, is recovering rapidly.

When Thompson Called at Her Home She Used the Whip on Him to the Best of Her Ability, She Declares.

The Accepted Theory Is That Larimore Was Slain by a Man Who Was His Rival for Young Woman's Hand.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

QUINCY, Ill., Oct. 25.—Bloodhounds are on the trail of the unknown assassin of Fred Larimore, who was shot and killed from ambush, near Plainfield, last night.

The theory is that he was murdered by a jealous rival.

Young Larimore was 23 years of age and engaged to be married to Miss Rosa Frick of Kinderhook, Pike County, but the date of the wedding had not been set. The young lady denies that he had a rival. She says that her affections were placed implicitly in young Larimore's keeping.

The bloodhounds which were placed upon the trail are the property of Charles Miller of Colchester, and are the same which were used at Mountmound two weeks ago to trace the missing wife of ex-State Senator Hardin.

Coroner Lummis, who held an inquest on the murdered man, says that he had a personal grudge against Fred Larimore, the father of the murdered man, and that he admitted to the coroner he had his suspicions, but so far as the name of the person was not known.

Bloodhounds followed a trail today for some distance in the orchard beyond where the body was found, but when they came to the river they discontinued the search because of the number of people who had tramped over the walk.

Miller is continuing his investigation today.

"I put it away and Thursday evening I learned that Thompson intended to call at my house. I made ready for him, even to placing of chairs in convenient positions and putting the stand out of the way."

"Before he came two of my friends came to spend the evening. I told them what I had done, but they did not interfere.

"They stayed in the back room, and before long Mr. Thompson called. I acted as if nothing were the matter, asked him to sit down.

LONDON WEARY OF ROYAL PAGEANTS

Saturday's Procession Won Meager Applause From the People.

BOER GENERALS SAW IT

THE KING LOOKED WELL IN SHOWY COSTUME.

In the Crush at the Entrance to Guildhall There Was for a Time a Jumble of Princes and Princesses and the Common Herd.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—King Edward and Queen Alexandra started on the royal progress toward the city shortly after noon today in full weather.

The procession had already moved up outside the gates when the first carriage containing royal personages and members of the household emerged from the Tower. The King, who was in a carriage with Princess Victoria, came in for slight cheering, but Lord Roberts and his staff passed all unnoticed.

There was a somewhat tedious interval before the appearance of the King and Queen, but the crush was great throughout the day as they passed through the rows of bluejackets from the cruiser Terrible lining either side of the main entrance to the Tower.

The King wore the uniform of a field marshal, with the plume thrown back showing the decorations. The Queen wore a straw-colored tunic and for color a lorgnette and cloak. Both the King and Queen looked extremely well and contended a majority of the crowd.

Without this additional revenue the citizens cannot reasonably expect the best municipal service. Present revenues are wholly inadequate to meet the necessities of the case.

PLEA FOR PASSING THE AMENDMENTS

PUBLIC WELFARE COMMISSION ISSUES A STATEMENT.

WHY THREE SHOULD PASS

Third, Fourth and Sixth Are Especially Necessary to the Making of the New St. Louis, as Is Plainly Shown.

In order that there may be a general understanding of the objects of the proposed third, fourth and sixth chapter amendments to be voted on at the coming election, the public welfare commission, a non-partisan body, has prepared the following statement:

AMENDMENT NO. 3.

This amendment authorizes the calling by ordinance of the City Council for the purpose of electing 13 framemasons whose duty it shall be to frame a new city charter; and, thereafter, the calling of a second election, at which the new charter may be either adopted or rejected.

The amendment is justified because it merely authorizes the citizens to determine for themselves whether they will have a new charter or not.

The present charter, adopted 37 years ago to meet the conditions of the bondholders, is now in many respects, tends to obstruct, rather than to promote the best municipal service.

AMENDMENT NO. 4.

The amendment authorizes the City of St. Louis to levy a county tax not to exceed 35 cents on the $100 valuation.

The amendment is justified because it affects a majority of the people in a county debt and is bound to perform county functions.

For these reasons the city is entitled to this additional revenue.

Without this power it will be impossible to compete with the other cities of the country in maintaining a broad and complete system of public works and services.

The King's escort of life guards, etc., was about the only department of the government which was not represented, and the troops made a brilliant display, striking contrast with the general lack of color present.

Partly in consequence of the length of the route, there was nowhere a great crush of people with the exception of open spaces like Prajapati Hall, where the London County Council presented the King with an address of welcome and where the Boer Generals saw it.

To authorize the borrowing of money, for which it is to be borrowed and shall amount to the amount proposed is the proper amount.

Without this power it will be impossible to compete with the other cities of the country in maintaining a broad and complete system of public works and services.

The King's escort of life guards, etc., was about the only department of the government which was not represented, and the troops made a brilliant display, striking contrast with the general lack of color present.

Without this additional revenue the citizens cannot reasonably expect the best municipal service. Present revenues are wholly inadequate to meet the necessities of the case.

AMENDMENT NO. 6.

The amendment empowers the voters of St. Louis to authorize by a two-thirds majority the issuance of city bonds to the extent of $10,000,000 in addition to the present bonds outstanding.

The amendment lays no burden on the taxpayer. It merely permits the City Council to borrow money if it is to be borrowed and prominent among the spectators and at the city boundary, Temple Bar, where the lord mayor, sheriff, and other city officials were in their mayoral robes and presented him with the city's sword.

Owing to the King's carriage being the last to come, he was confined to the transept of the Guild Hall in an endeavor to empty the carriages quickly and avoid keeping his majesty waiting. Some of the ladies who were in the unremovable deposit on the sidewalk, when they tried to reach their wraps in the carriages, were so heavily pressed that they were in a row, street, and a confused mass of policemen, princesses, ladies in waiting and such generals as had time to dismount and enter the royal enclosure. When the King arrived he looked tired and stepped heavily from his carriage. The Queen, in a white gown, a straw-colored dress, trimmed with gold, her majesty, who looked marvelously youthful, well, accepted a bouquet from the lady-in-waiting, and the King shook hands with her. The procession then started off down a long, picturesque row of trees, the King's escort of life guards, etc., straggled in behind. Among the last was the Prince of Wales, who was rather long in coming, and some running and scarcely recognizable, and nearly shrouded by the cordon of policemen who gathered about the doors.

In the hall the 700 persons waiting about the luncheon, who cheered as the King came in. His majesty accepted the corporation's address and then the heralds, who formed a guard of honor, and the luncheon commenced.

The interior of the great hall of Guildhall was filled with members of the royal family and diplomatic officers and officials, all in full uniform, with their breasts blazing with orders.

NO DAMAGES FOR DYNAMITE.

Phoenix Manufacturing Company Loses Its Suit Against the Wabash.

In the case of the Phoenix Manufacturing Co. of St. Louis v. the Wabash Railway Co., a suit for $100 in Judge Wool's division of the Circuit Court this morning, the court held that under the evidence the plaintiff was not entitled to recover, and did not allow the case to go to trial.

The Phoenix Manufacturing Co. shipped a car of gun dynamite to a company at Tipton to Tipton Junction, Tex. The bill of lading issued by the railway company contained a provision that it should not be liable for damage by fire not caused by its own negligence.

While the car was in transit over the Pecos Worth & Denver City Railway it was destroyed by fire, which originated in the outskirts of Tipton. During the night a car adjoining caught fire, which communicated to the latter with explosive results.

The powder company sued on the ground that the car had been left on a switch remote from any habitation or fire protection, and when struck by a locomotive could set it ablaze.

Judge Wool held that the live company had no right in locating the car at a remote spot, public safety demanding such a course. He stated that the causal connection between the allegations and the result was not sustained by the plaintiff and not fully established.

Spanish-American Club Decides to Adopt the Latin-American Pronunciation.

The Spanish-American Club, at its regular meeting Friday night decided to officially adopt the Mexican pronunciation instead of the pure Castilian.

August Boette, president of the club, said that inasmuch as the club would be associated with the Spanish-speaking people of Mexico and South America, and not the pure Spaniards, the executive committee believed it best to do so.

Well-Trained Indian Troops

PERSONALITY OF MAD RULER

FANATICAL PRIEST OF STRICT MOHAMMEDAN SECT.

Having Convinced Hordes He Can Perform Miracles, They Obey Him Without Question and Will Follow Him to Death.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.
(Copyright, 1902, by the St. Louis Publishing Co.)

LONDON, Oct. 25.—The Mad Mullah, against whom another punitive expedition of British troops is about to be sent in Somaliland in Northeast Africa, has long been an object of suspicion at the war office.

His soldiers have opposed the departure of the interior of Somaliland and have constantly stirred up strife by raiding and looting tribes which were under British protection.

Early last spring he raided tribes within 15 miles of Burao, and this despite the presence of a British garrison, which was powerless to accomplish anything against the Mullah's rapidly moving forces.

This naturally increased the admiration of his followers for him and Col. Swayne's punitive expedition made up of 1,000 men under British officers was started out to scatter his forces. This expedition was defeated a few days ago, and for a time it was feared that it would be annihilated. But it reached safety, and all the British wounded are reported to be doing well.

Gen. Manning arrived at Aden this week and at once began to rush trained Indian troops to Somaliland. It is expected the Mad Mullah has a force of from 12,000 to 15,000 men, many of whom are well armed.

The British cannot promptly put anything as large as that in the field, but expect to send a brigade of 300 or 400 men from India, and it is understood that the government will ask the Negus (Emperor) of Abyssinia to send a force against the fanatics from the West, as he did once before.

If the Negus consents he will send an army out under Ras Makonnen, the commander-in-chief of the Abyssinian army.

Makonnen came to London for the coronation, as the representative of the Negus, and seemed to be so well pleased with England and King Edward's hospitality that it is thought he willingly would head a force to help crush the fanatical dervishes.

Mullah Advocates a Holy War.

The Mullah has been preaching a "Holy war," and has thus gained a considerable following of Moslems crazed with religious fervor. By his preaching he has gained such an influence over the tribesmen that he will proclaim Madihi by the name of Allah and immediately start a Mohammedan uprising.

Numerous Mad Mullahs have been heard from in the last decade, the most prominent being the one in Afghanistan.

If a Mullah is a Mohammedan priest or prophet, he is particularly fanatic, and he easily acquires the title of Mad Mullah. The Mad Mullah operating in Somaliland

MRS. E. N. BEACH.

Miss Queen Rumsey, who holds the local golfer, Mrs. Lambert was defeated by Miss Rumsey.

Miss Rumsey, who made the lowest score in the qualifying round, again won, defeating Mrs. Lambert, Mrs. F. A. Newberry, won from Mrs. Van Riper, and Mrs. Clarence White from Mrs. James James.

The final match is now up to the semi-finals, which will be played off Monday at Glen Echo Club, weather permitting. The finals will follow, Tuesday.

Bond Lambert, wife of the well-known is known to his followers as Hajji Muhammed Abdullah, and belongs to the Habr Suleiman Ogaden tribe.

He married into the Dababata Algherit, among whom he now lives at Kebir, a town in the Ogaden. Last day's march east of Kerit and about one hundred and seventy miles from Berbera, Somaliland.

He is the son of a man who has told this and has a small goat's beard. He has made several pilgrimages to Mecca and while there attacked himself to the bone, and was given to those deputy oil claims to be in Somaliland.

This so impressed the tribesmen that they will follow the Mullah blindfold, any where. He has distributed among his followers pink colored rice which he has assured them so long as they fight in the name of Allah they will be protected.

The Mullah is a master in intrigue, and by promises and gifts and by arranging marriages between his followers and other tribes has gained his considerable following.

The Mullah is a miser, a miser of no mean power, and, during one of his recent visits, tented in Somaliland, but one of the strongest chieftains in a trance. He asked the man that he saw,

"Down below are Sahibos, some dead on the ground, others below ground and slain by the followers of Mohammed. Some in the distance Tipahana are coming, but soon they see all the infidels are dead and dying."

Fanatic Makes War on Three Nations.

Believing the British were afraid of him the Mad Mullah and self-styled Mahdi began plundering and raiding the British, Abyssinian and Anglo-Egyptian territories of Somaliland.

Foreign offices complained that the Mad Mullah, who was living in British territory, attacked and harassed tribes in those zones and then retreated back to British Somaliland.

The three entities which will confront a large force organized by Gen. Manning will be by no means inconsiderable.

There is no definite objective. The Mullah and followers have no fixed place of abode, but usually live in the villages of tribes they have raided.

Much of the Mullah's wealth consists of horses, camels and teams of sheep and goats, and it is the idea of striking and destroying these that the expedition will have to contend with. The Mullah and his followers will always be found near the grazing grounds of these herds.

Before any effective work can be done, the first step will be to find a spot in the desert known as The Hand, 200 miles in breadth. Except at the coast, no food supplies other than what can be obtained from the oases are available.

The Mullah's method of transportation for supplies, ammunition and military stores is by camels.

The Mullah's route includes a climb from the coast to a vast inland plateau some 800 feet above the sea level. In organizing his expedition, Col. Swayne established an auxiliary base in northern Somaliland, used a trained levy of natives as porters.

The Somalians endures a wonderful physical endurance, resembling in some respects, a camel. He can make forced marches of 30 or 40 miles a day carrying 100 pounds of pack, without fatigue, and after this being deprived two pounds of dates and a pint of water for each day.

It is estimated it will require at least a month before Gen. Manning can organize his force sufficiently to start on the expedition.

The Mullah is not as crazy as the British government would have the public believe is shown by the fact that whenever he attacks a village he takes no prisoners, but carries off cattle of value and the camels and herds of the tribe are driven off to enrich the private stock of the Mullah. He has killed many, if not all, the women and children of the villages his forces attack.

The Mullah burns the arms for his followers.

The British office believes that many of the arms came from the United States, being smuggled in calico boxes.

Moslems have displayed wonderful fondness for calico prints from the United States and vast quantities have come in for the Mullah and his men.

It would cause an aluminum deposit in the stomach.

Mercy!

Is that fatal?
No; it would not kill you outright, but it would mortify you to death.

How?

Why, everybody would call you a lummox.

"RIGHT THING TO DO AND SO I DID IT"

THOMAS CONOR TELLS OF DONATION TO JOPLIN NEGROES.

$15,000 TO AID CHURCHES

Couldn't See How the Colored People Could Ever Build New Churches, So Made the Donation.

"I thought it was the right thing to do and so I did it," is the explanation Thomas Connor of Joplin, Mo., makes of his donation of $15,000 to the negro churches of that town.

Mr. Connor is a wealthy mine owner who has lived in Joplin 20 years. For the last few months he has been at the Grand Avenue Hotel, in St. Louis. He is not in good health and he devotes little or no time to business.

A few days ago he made the donation which occasioned such wide-spread comment and caused him to be termed "The Carnegie of Missouri."

"I was thinking over things and I couldn't see how the colored churches in Joplin could be any better than they are. The buildings are not good and I couldn't see how any better ones could be built. I thought that the members of the churches would be unable to pay for them.

"I thought that to give those people money enough to build good churches would be right."

No one asked me to make the donation. No one said that it should be made.

"I did it because I wanted to favor the negroes.

I am not a southern man."

In response to the question, "Which do you think the more necessary, schools or churches?" Mr. Connor said:

"I do not know. I think one is as necessary as the other. If I had to choose between the two, I would choose the schools.

"I don't know which I should choose. Both are needed very much."

Mr. Connor is a man past middle age, with no desire for ornament or show. He told no one of his gift, and it would not have been known in St. Louis except for his friends.

He does not care what kind of religion is taught in the buildings which he has endowed, neither does he care what kind of buildings are erected with the money he has given.

He lives a quiet life at the Grand Avenue Hotel, and spends his time walking or driving about the city. He is a man of intelligence and an entertaining conversationalist.

He is a native of Joplin, where the greater part of his life was spent and is anxious to help its citizens.

Round-trip homesekers' and one-way setters' rates to the South and Southwest via the direct Louisville & Nashville Railroad, first and third Tuesdays in each month. Free reclining chairs. Ticket office 206 North Broadway.

FUNERAL OF F. M. HARRIS.

Well-Known Business Man Buried in Calvary Cemetery.

The funeral of Frederick Minnis Harris was held this morning from St. Alphonsus Church, Rev. Father Mahoney conducting the services. The body was buried in Calvary Cemetery. Mr. Harris died Thursday evening.

Mr. Harris was prominently identified with St. Louis lumber interests for 10 years and at the time of his death was secretary and treasurer of the Little Luxemburg Lumber Co.

His wife, Anna F. Fletcher, of an old Virginia family, and during Cleveland's first term was postoffice inspector for that city.

BUTLER'S MOTION WAS OVERRULED

Attempt to Quash the Indictment Futile.

FOLK OPPOSED POSTPONEMENT

LACK OF WITNESSES' NAMES WAS DEFENSE'S EXCUSE FOR DELAY.

These Were Supplied by Circuit Attorney and Merrill's Names Changed From Robert to Albert.

The motion of Edward Butler's attorneys to quash the indictment against him on the ground that the names of three material witnesses who had testified before the grandjury did not appear on the information was overruled by Judge Hockaday at Columbia yesterday afternoon. The proceedings occupied just about 15 minutes.

The witnesses in question were James Campbell, Walter Blakely and Albert Merrill, and when court was convened at 3 o'clock to hear arguments in the case Attorney N. T. Gentry, representing Butler, attempted to postpone argument because the witnesses who had been summoned and all the attorneys were not present.

Such, Declared Judge Spencer, Is the Answer to a Jury Summons.

"A jury summons is a call to fulfill the first duty of citizenship," said Judge Spencer of division No. 2 of the Circuit Court Saturday morning in assessing a fine of $50 against Walter J. McBride, general manager of the American Car & Foundry Co., for failing to answer a subpoena.

Judge Spencer then proceeded to lecture Mr. McBride and intimated that he must be a student at school but did not say when he disappeared. He was at school last Saturday morning and left at 11 o'clock, according to his room.

It appears that Deputy Sheriff Lange, who sent the summons on Monday, was obstructed in his efforts by Mr. McBride's porter. This incident also brought forth severer censure from Judge Spencer, who paid him fine and in addition will serve on a special jury which has been summoned by Judge Spencer.

QUOTED JACOB'S INSTRUCTIONS

Biblical History Referred to in Suit to Exhume and Rebury Jacob Steymark.

The widow and son of Jacob Steymark filed a pleading in Judge Ferriss' court yesterday, afternoon, in which they seek to have the body of the deceased removed from the Scherith Israel Church Cemetery, the personal charge of the burial ground referred to in the litigation.

Reference was made in the pleading of the plaintiffs to the instructions given by Jacob to his children to be buried in the land of Egypt, and the claim is made that the sons of Jacob never had to apply to Pharao for permission to make the removal. That is, it is civilized humanity to permit the members of the dead person's family to bury him remains wherever they may see fit.

Judge Ferriss reserved his decision after the case had been argued. Steymark was buried in 1882.

Free Medical Advice to Women.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Out of the vast volume of experience which she has to draw from it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case. She asks nothing in return except your good will, and her advice has relieved thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.

OLIVE STREET CAR KILLED HIM ADVISED BACHELORS TO WED

Man of All Work, Known Only as President of Clayton Bachelor Club "Pat," Met Instant Death Last Night.

A man of all work at the residence of Mrs. B. Jacks, 480 Delmar avenue, who so far has been identified only as "Pat," was instantly killed at 8 o'clock last night at Delmar and Euclid avenues, by an Olive street car. The motorman, Daniel Cole, fled to escape arrest and the details of the accident have not been fully ascertained. All that is known is that the unknown man was run down by the car as he was crossing the street.

After running his car to the barn at Delaville and Delmar avenues, Cole fled. The police are looking for him. Klampke was married at Dardene, St. Charles County, on Wednesday to Miss Clara Sommer, daughter of a prosperous farmer of that place. The wedding was a complete surprise to the members of the bachelors' club.

It is believed that the young man was a recent executive. When he arrived with his bride in Clayton last night they were crossing the street when he was hit by an Olive street car.

The conductor of the car, George Chapin, was arrested, but was unable to tell how the accident occurred.

Louisa Horstdaniels Asks the Police to Locate Herman Horstdaniels, Aged Twenty-Four.

Louisa Horstdaniels called at police headquarters Saturday morning and asked Assistant Chief of Detectives Smith to assist her in locating her brother, Herman Horstdaniels, who has been missing for a week.

Horstdaniels is 24 years old and came to St. Louis from Westphalia, Mo., little more than a week ago and became a student at Jones' Commercial College. He boarded at 262 Locust street. He had been a student at school but did not go when he disappeared.

It appears that Deputy Sheriff Lange, who sent the summons on Monday, was obstructed in his efforts by Mr. McBride's porter. This incident also brought forth severer censure from Judge Spencer, who paid him fine and in addition will serve on a special jury which has been summoned by Judge Spencer.

No Important Cities Touched Except Bloomington, the Idea Being to Make a Short Line Between the Two Cities.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—There is every indication that the Rock Island Railroad will have a line from Chicago to St. Louis before the opening of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition.

Surveys are being made in Macoupin County, Illinois, for the company. The road is to run straight from Morris to East St. Louis. The line passes through the counties of Livingston, McLean, De Witt, Logan, Sangamon and Montgomery, and strikes the townships of Shaw's Point, Money Point, Gillespie, Dorchester and Staunton, running through Madison County to East St. Louis. No important cities are touched except Bloomington, Carlinville, Litchfield, Springfield and Alton are missed.

Miss Henkel was one of the prettiest pupils of the academy. She went to Flora in 1896 and completed her course four years later. During this whole period she had the superintendence of the school farm and grounds, loved her, and while the discipline of the convent was too strict to please her, she made her open avowal of his passion, he made her understand how he felt on the subject.

She returned several times on visits, and last February remained at the academy during the annual retreat. It was generally understood that a wedding would follow, although an engagement was not formally announced.

WASHINGTON WILL SHOW ITS METTLE AGAINST SEWANEE THIS AFTERNOON

Sizzling Time on the Gridiron in the City and All Over the United States Today When the Football Season Really Begins.

BY J. E. WRAY.

The much-mooted question, "Have I a football team or not," frequently propounded to me by Coach White of Washington, will probably be definitely answered when the whistle blows at the close of the second half of the game to be played today at League Park, against the Sewanee eleven.

Erratic play in the three games so far contested, and indifferent practice have left the effectiveness of the aggregate much in doubt and if the "Cotton" or the "Spuds," which is the label worn by the Tennessee team, have anything above the ordinary to spring, Washington may be reasonably expected to get into trouble on defense.

There is little doubt of the ability of the local eleven to gain ground. The team, which has been estimated to be the best in last Saturday's contest, Sewanee will have more than it wants in stopping players. Smith, Ladd, and Plecker, and Stevens and Gordon may be expected to work trouble on end plays.

The eleven which will represent Washington will be built up by the field and about the strongest, individually, it can hope to have this year.

From end to end the team is composed, with one exception, Webber—of veterans of last year, who know, or should, something of the possibilities of united effort, and the field has but two new men, Larson, a player of tried ability and a capable performer.

The southern championship, to which the Virginia aggregation (points with pride) really amounts to little. Vanderbilt and Texas Universities believe they only compete with the team from Georgia, but contend with the Texas team, took the measure of the Sewanee eleven, and beat them by a point of touch down.

Had the local team benefited by daily practice as an eleven, there would be small doubt of the issue of today's battle. As it stands the two sides are evenly matched, and are in a position to go to war for a victory for the local team.

Jim Wear of Yale will officiate for Washington today.

The Marion team, the team will go to Warrensburg on Saturday to play the State Normal School's eleven. The Marion team is composed of students of the School of Mines eleven and the Medics are expecting a victory today.

The following are the teams on the trip: Captain, Eddie Ballou; Campbell, Stutte; C. B. Caldwell, Lindsay, Campbell, Jason, Curtis, Swallen, Griffin, Miller, Smith, Brinkman, Coach Caldwell and Manager McKenzie.

Christian Brothers' college will pit its snappy playing eleven against the East St. Louis High School team, an aggregation which was strong enough to hold Marion in check in the first half of the first game played by the Medics this year. The game scheduled to start at 3:30 and will be played on the Rolla field.

INVISIBLE WRITING IN DIVORCE COURT

DEFENDANT BLUSHED WHEN LAWYER "DEVELOPED"
LETTERS.

JURORS READ HER SENTIMENTS

Former Maid Testified That Her Misses Received Many "Blank" Missives From Sculptor.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—While a jury, Justice Clark and a roomful of spectators looked on, a lawyer who appeared for Isaac Roth in his suit for divorce against Julius Roth, developed in a pan of water what was apparently a blank sheet of note paper.

Slowly the paper, which had been without a mark, became covered with writing.

which Mrs. Sophie Knapp identified as the handwriting of Mrs. Roth. The letter was passed around to the jurors in its pall of water, for it is alleged by her husband that she wrote it in invisible ink to Marcus de Zavas in New York. The letter, it is alleged, was given by Mrs. Roth to her maid, who delivered it to her.

The maid stated that Mrs. Roth had frequently received letters containing nothing but blank paper.

"What did Mr. Roth do with them?" inquired the lawyer.

"She used to iron the blank sheets with a hot iron."

The witness then said she had received half a dozen letters for her mistress from de Zavas and given them to her. The letters were addressed to her in the name of Sophie Patterson.

On cross-examination the maid completely collapsed, having fainted from court in a faint. She was with difficulty revived and again tried to take the witness stand, but was removed in another William J. Knapp, the husband, said that while he was pursuing Sophie in the dining room, Mrs. Roth would be entertaining de Zavas in the front of the house.

"S. B. ANTHONY" NOT A VOTER
Request To Register From Democrats,
Who Thought Woman Suffragist
Was Man, Gets Humorous Reply.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 25.—The carelessness of Democratic canvassers in this city recently led to a curious mistake.

It has been the custom for some of these political agents to copy names out of the directory and mark them as Democratic with an attempt to verify the return. One return, which was made by a canvasser who pursued this method, was "S. B. Anthony," 17 Madison street, Democrat.

The Democratic central committee finding that no person named S. B. Anthony registered from 17 Madison street sent an urgent telegram to that person, calling attention to the fact and urging that "he" register his name.

In response to your request that I register and vote, I will do so, but I do not wish to jail for so doing. I do not wish to repeat the experiment."

FUNERAL OF DR. HOWARD.

Burial of Man Found Dead at South ern Will Be Held at Fulton.

The funeral of Dr. John H. Howard of Fulton, Mo., who was found dead in his bed at the Southern Hotel early yesterday morning, will be held at his home, where he had practiced his profession for more than 50 years. The body will be taken to Fulton today.

Dr. Howard had been a sufferer from cancer and had undergone treatment by a physician who was one of his old friends. It is presumed that he choked to death from the growth, being in his 70s. He was 70 years old, and for many years was a trustee of the Fulton Insane Asylum.

"Overwork," she says, "was the cause of my illness. My system became all run down generally, my blood was poor and the doctors said I had anemia. My appetite failed me, I became pale and sickly with no color at all in my face. I had dizzy spells and severe headaches. My illness affected my limbs and I could not walk any distance without becoming very much fatigued and short of breath.

"I suffered for two years and twice was confined to my bed. I doctored with an able local physician for a year and received no benefit. Then I went to Montreal and took treatment from a physician there but he did me no good and I began to fear I would never get well.

"While in Montreal, a friend of mine who had a nice wife had been greatly benefited by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I began taking them and soon saw a change for the better. I noticed that my lips and ears were beginning to look pink and the pallor was fading away. My cheeks began to fill out and my appetite returned at once and I asked me who was my doctor not. I told them that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People were doing all this.

"Altogether I took twelve boxes and by that time I was a strong and healthy girl again.

"When I went to the store here to buy a supply of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," Miss Mossey said, "the clerk told me I could buy them cheaper in bulk than in the package. But I remembered I had read a warning that the genuine pills were never sold in bulk.

"So I insisted upon being given the package and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and I got them."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People may be had of all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., fifty cents box six boxes for $3.00.

OVERWORKED WOMEN

WHY SO MANY LOSE THEIR ATTRACTIVENESS.

Misses Tell How Headaches, Backaches, Weakness and Fitful Tempers May be Avoided or Overcome.

Miss Georgiana J. Mossey, of No. 129 Lake street, St. Albans, Vt., is a bright, healthy young woman and from her appearance one would never think she had ever been ill in her life. But there was a time, a few years ago, when she was very low, when physicians treated her without avail and hope for recovery was almost gone.
